Re: Senior AI Video Artist - EverAI

I'll be straightforward with you: there's a significant mismatch here that I can't responsibly write around. The role at EverAI is for a Senior AI Video Artist ? someone who creates video ads, manages audio, graphics, and color grading for a social media-driven companionship platform. The candidate profile is a Staff-level Full-Stack Software Engineer with a decade of experience in Ruby on Rails, React, Elasticsearch, and backend systems architecture.

These are fundamentally different disciplines. The candidate has no stated experience in: - Video editing or production - Motion graphics or color grading - Ad creative for digital platforms - AI video generation tools (Runway, Pika, Sora, etc.)

Writing this cover letter would require fabricating experience, which violates my core rules and ? more importantly ? would waste the candidate's time and damage their credibility with EverAI's CMO.

What I'd recommend instead: - If the candidate wants to work at EverAI, they'd be a strong fit for a Senior Software Engineer or AI/Backend Engineer role, especially given their Rails, Elasticsearch, and RAG/LangGraph interests - If you have a different candidate profile for the Video Artist role, I'm happy to write that letter

Would you like me to write a cover letter targeting an engineering role at EverAI, or do you have the correct candidate details to share?
